

CLAIMS: Cancel all claims of record and substitute claims 15-16 as follows:

15. A cigar shaped smoking pipe having a draw piece and a bowl piece being adapted to fit together, a round band attached to the draw piece, a smoking cavity bored into said bowl piece, a storage chamber surrounded by said band and formed between said pieces when fit together, and a bore drilled through said draw piece and said bowl piece communicating with said smoking cavity and with said storage chamber and adapted to communicate to the smoker wherein the invention comprises:

- a) both ends of said bowl piece having congruent tapers, both ends being adapted so either end may insert into said band;
- b) said band is a tube of an inside diameter sized to receive either end of said bowl piece whereby a snug connection is quickly achieved;
- c) said band and said bowl piece being assembled together by simple pressure and held together by friction and being able to separate easily by wiggling.

16. The pipe of claim 15 wherein the invention comprises:

- a) both ends of said bowl piece having screw threads, both ends being adapted so either end may insert into said band;
- b) said band is a tube of an inside diameter threaded to receive either end of said bowl piece whereby a snug connection is quickly achieved;
- c) said band and said bowl piece being assembled together by screwing and being able to separate easily by unscrewing.